WELCOME TO YOUR WEDDING FLOWERS!

Your Farm Fresh Florals

We are honored to be part of your day. Your wedding flowers will feature local seasonal blooms and foliages grown with great love at our farm. Expect beautiful color, fragrant scent and unique texture. While no particular flower varieties can be guaranteed, your flowers will be harvested at their peak from the most beautiful stems growing in our field at the time of your wedding, in your color palette.

Vessel & Ribbon Selection

We offer several vase options (white, dark metal, cement, hobnail) to fit your wedding style, and one bud vase trio option (glass). These are included in our pricing and belong to you after your wedding. Vase substitutions for a la carte weddings are not available. Ribbon is included as described on the bouquet product you select. Colors can be chosen by Client as long as the contract is signed at least 60 days prior to the wedding. For a shorter increment, Client has a choice of white or cream.

Receiving Your Flowers

A La Carte and Bulk Florals are for on-farm pick-up by Client (or representative), typically Thursday, Friday or Saturday morning before a Saturday wedding. The ideal pick-up vehicle will be air conditioned and have ample space and head-room for boxes, buckets and vases containing long stems and/or branches. Depending on the size of your order, an SUV or two vehicles are good choices.

Care & Handling

Client (or designee) will review and sign off on the flower order at the time of pick-up. After taking delivery, Client is thereafter responsible for the handling and condition of the flowers. These recommendations will help keep them looking their best.

- Flowers are delicate and perishable. Crowding or rough handling can damage easily-bruised petals.
- Whenever possible, flowers should be transported directly to venue or staging area without interim stops.
- After pick-up but prior to use, store your flowers in a cool, dark location. Basements or cool garages are good.
- When arranging DIY designs, use clean vessels, sharp clean floral snips, and water clean enough to drink.
- Bouquets will be sent out in water with pH balancer, food, and anti-bacterial solution. Avoid wetting bouquet ribbons. When not in use, return bouquets to cool water throughout the day.
- Extended exposure to heat and direct sunlight can cause wilting and should be avoided until the last possible moment.
- Hanging florals (arch and sign clusters) are designed with appropriate armature to fasten to the base structure relatively easily. Entrust this job to a reliable "handy" person and assistant, and time this task toward the end of set-up to minimize exposure to elements. Consider and plan for needs like ladders, tools, and safety.
- Wearables and loose petals will be sent out in recyclable plastic containers with a damp paper towel for hydration and should be kept inside these mini-hydration chambers until it is time to use them.

Refrigeration

Extreme caution should be exercised when placing any flowers (even those in containers) in a refrigerator, because placement too near the cooling element can cause freezing, and produce sharing refrigerator space can off-gas ethylene--bad for flowers.

Delivery, installation and placement

Our quote is for on-farm pickup by the Client (or representative) of all items. By special request, delivery to the venue may be possible for $50 plus round-trip mileage at $0.58/mile, with floral items to be dropped off at a table or designated area and signed for by a designated person at the venue. Installation and placement services are available at additional cost of $50/hour for farmer-florist plus one helper. Striking and de-installation of flowers is available at equivalent additional round-trip cost plus hourly rate. Late-night striking services are at a higher rate.

Weather

Client acknowledges that the availability of BHFF's local seasonal flowers is weather-dependent. In the event weather or other uncontrollables limit the farm's ability to provide stems envisioned by this quote, Client understands BHFF will source from a domestic farm or wholesaler, and that there may be a price differential for refrigerated air/ground freight. BHFF and Client will discuss weather forecast and options approximately 8-10 days before the wedding, and in no event will BHFF obligate Client to any additional cost without Client's prior approval.

Payments, deposits, contract, postponements and cancellations

Upon acceptance of your quote, a contract will be issued for signature and payment of a nonrefundable deposit of 50% of the total. This fee will hold the date and cover BHFF's crop-planning, crop-growing and design fee. In the event the wedding date changes for any reason, the upfront deposit is transferrable to another date, provided the new date falls during our growing season and is available to BHFF, but the fee is not refundable because it is not for flowers. The remaining 50% balance for your order is due on or before order pick-up from Bleeding Heart Flower Farm. Note there is an additional and refundable damage/replacement deposit explained below.

Return of buckets, rentals and damage/replacement deposit

A check (or cash) separate from the Order Invoice will be collected from Client (or representative) on pick-up day as a deposit for replacement costs plus shipping of any buckets or vessels rented or loaned from BHFF, but will be held, uncashed, pending return of the items in original condition at Bleeding Heart Flower Farm no later than Tuesday noon following the wedding weekend, at which time this separate deposit will be returned to Client. In the event of damage or non-return, the deposit will be used to cover replacement costs.
